

Beet Raisers See Sugar Act Benefits

Directors of State Association Approve New Plan

Belief that net returns to sugar beet growers would exceed $7 a ton under the new sugar allotment act was expressed by J. R. Rawlins, president of the Utah Sugar Beet Growers' association, following a meeting of the directors of the association held Tuesday at the offices of the Utah State Farm Bureau.

Mr. Rawlins based his figures on an estimate of benefit payments amounting to $192 a ton. Administrative methods provided for in the 1937 sugar act met with the approval of the directors who saw an opportunity for their association to have more influence in the local application of the law. It was pointed out that under the new law, district boards would administer the act instead of the extension service, as was provided under the Jones-Costigan act.

Directors declared their gratitude to Utah's congressional delegation for their fight for the sugar bill, to Governor Henry H. Blood for his support and for the activity of A. S. Brown, national Democratic committee man, who used his influence to persuade the president to sign the bill.

In a conference on the coming beet harvest, the directors reached the conclusion that a sufficient labor supply would be available to harvest the 1937 crop without undue delay.

Ewing Lauds King's Stand on Court

Belief that Senator William H. King had performed a patriotic service to his country in opposing President Roosevelt's supreme court plan was expressed Tuesday by Orman W. Ewing, Washington, D. C. attorney and former Democratic national committee man from Utah.

Mr. Ewing, accompanied by his wife, the former Miss Leola H. Howe of Ogden, and his daughter, Miss Phyllis Ewing, arrived in Salt Lake City Tuesday on a week's vacation trip. They plan to return to their Chevy Chase home in time for Miss Ewing to resume her law studies at George Washington university.

THE SOAP OF BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

Utah May Have '38 Plates of Maroon-White

The state tax commission is accepting the judgment of its own employees as to the best color combination for Utah's 1938 automobile license plates.

In a poll conducted several weeks ago the employees expressed a preference for maroon letters and figures on a white background. The commission decided Tuesday that's what it will be. A definite announcement could not be made until surrounding states had been checked to determine what their color combinations would be. It is the desire of all the western states to avoid confusion by having different combinations.

The new plates will be manufactured at the state prison on machines placed in operation for the first time last year in stamping the 1937 plates. The commission said that unless dies have to be changed the word "Utah" and the figures "1938" will be changed from the top to the bottom of the plates.

The state prison machines are used also in the manufacture of road signs and markers used by the state road commission.

Radio Station Gets Permit

KDYL Authorized to Conduct Tests

Radio station KDYL in Salt Lake City will be able to present a wider range of programs and conduct further experimentation with short wave relay stations, according to Chief Engineer John M. Baldwin, following a grant of permission from the federal communication commission Tuesday.

Associated Press dispatches from Washington indicated the commission had authorized the Intermountain Broadcasting corporation, operators of the station, permission to build a new high frequency broadcast station and a license to operate an experimental relay station.

Mr. Baldwin said the grant meant short wave communication could be carried on from more points than formerly and that various types of experiments could be conducted. He explained that even miniature short wave transmitters, such as was used by Bunny Dryden in his tight-rope walk during Utah Covered Wagon days, require federal permission to operate.

Revenue Jumps

A possible all-time high for passenger revenue miles flown in one month was recorded by United Air Lines during August. S. R. Newman, district traffic manager, said Tuesday. He reported that trebling of sleeper service from coast to coast was a major factor in a 16 per cent increase in passenger traffic for the month over August, 1936.

Truce Meets Held in Hotel Labor Dispute

Envoys of Newhouse Management, Employes Confer

Representatives of the Newhouse hotel management and of employes' organizations were holding informal conferences Tuesday in an effort to compose difficulties which for a time threatened to cause a strike of the hotel workers.

William M. Knerr, chairman of the state labor relations board, said the management had given assurance that it would negotiate if employe representatives could reach an agreement on jurisdiction.

The Newhouse Protective association, an independent employes' group, claims to represent office, clerical and culinary workers, while the Building Service Employes' union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, claims that it represents service employes.

Mr. Knerr said if no agreement can be reached on the jurisdictional dispute, the commission will proceed Thursday at 2 p. m. to conduct a hearing on the petition of the union that the independent group be dissolved. The union charges the management with coercing employes into joining the company association.

Those participating in the conferences are Paul M. Peterson, president of the Utah State Federation of Labor, representing the union; W. Douglas Easite, attorney for the protective association, and Oscar W. Carlson, representing the hotel management.

Garage Employes To Open Parley

Approximately 25 representatives of garage employe and service station attendant unions throughout 11 western states will open conferences at the Labor temple Wednesday at 10:30 a. m., under direction of Gordon Lindsay, Seattle, Wash., chairman of the two-day meeting.

A program for promoting the welfare of these unions, which are units of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, and discussion of mutual problems, will occupy the delegates. G. Elrino Hall, business agent of the local group, said.

To Draft Wages

Drafting of a standard set of wage, hour and other conditions to govern workers employed by chain garages and service stations also will be undertaken by the conference members, he indicated.

Plans to entertain the convention delegates and show them as much as possible of Utah's scenic spots will be handled by Mr. Hall, V. A. McGhan and F. H. Latter.

Wages Question Halts Road Job

The question of whether Salt Lake City will go according to the prevailing hourly wage scale set for work on public roads in doing work on city roads with funds from the state motor vehicle taxes will not be answered now.

A request, made several weeks ago by the state industrial commission for information on this point need not be answered now, Assistant City Attorney E. R. Christensen told the city commission by letter Tuesday. An injunction suit, filed by Warwick Lamereaux, has stymied Street Commissioner John B. Matheson's $45,000 street program.

Mr. Christensen indicated he would be glad to furnish the commission with a written opinion on the wage question when it was needed later.

Holds Demonstration

Professor Carl F. Frischnecht held the first of a series of poultry killing, dressing and cooking demonstrations Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the West Jordan L. D. S. ward house. Other demonstrations will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Ethel Erickson, 209 West Fifth avenue, Murray, and at 6 p. m. at the home of Mrs. C. L. Bello, Pleasant Green.

Salt Lake Autograph Hunters Besiege Famed Crooner

Bing Crosby Stops Long Enough for Six Smiles and Four Puffs on Pipe

Bing Crosby, that widely known turfman and race track operator, who croons "on the side" for a living, paused in Salt Lake City Tuesday night.

Here only five minutes, during the brief stop of the Union Pacific streamliner, the big business man of the movies had time only for six smiles, three waves, four puffs on his ever present pipe, 14 autographs and 12 sentences.

Besieged by a large crowd that had learned of his presence on the train, he signed, with the jollity that has become second nature to him, all the autograph books thrust under his nose.

Halliday Rites Set for Today

The funeral of Cyrus Benjamin Halliday, 63, superintendent of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company's plant at West Jordan, will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the American Fork L. D. S. tabernacle by Bishop Joseph H. Stores of the American Fork Second L. D. S. ward. Burial will follow in American Fork cemetery.

Mr. Halliday, who had been employed by the sugar company for 36 years, died Saturday in a local hospital of complications following an operation. An active member of the L. D. S. church, he resided at 8768 South State street.

City Promotes Patrolman

The city commission Tuesday confirmed the promotion of one police officer and the appointment of a new third-grade patrolman, on motion of Mayor E. B. Irwin, and following the recommendations of Chief of Police Harry L. Finch.

The promotion came to Joseph P. Dastrup, former city patrolman, who was advanced to the position of detective, effective September 1. Detective Dastrup had previously served as a plain clothes man for some time, Chief Finch indicated.

Clarence F. Pierce was given the appointment of third-grade patrolman, to serve for the probationary period of one year. He had become eligible for the appointment through civil service and physical examinations.

Europe War Scares Discounted

L.D.S. Officers Tell Of Nazi Desire To Prevent Strife

Possibilities of outbreak of any extensive war in Europe soon were discounted Tuesday by George D. Pyper, general superintendent of the L. D. S. Desert Sunday School, union, and Roy A. Welker, formerly president of the L. D. S. German-Austrian mission, on their return to Salt Lake City after extensive stays on the continent.

"The Nazi regime in Germany is characterized by marked orderliness and both the government and the people are strongly opposed to war," Mr. Welker said. Accounts of Nazi activities published in American newspapers and magazines have shown strong bias, he asserted.

Mr. Pyper said economically Europe is making a strong comeback and that the only evidences he found of a war scare were in the newspapers. "The people everywhere were busy making their livelihoods and were strongly opposed to war," he said.

The ministry of religion in Germany has shown little interest in L. D. S. activities, leaving contact with the church to local agents of the ministry, who, almost without exception, were friendly and tolerant, Mr. Welker said.

Mrs. Welker, who headed women's organizations in the mission, reported excellent cooperation from the Nazi women's division, "which acts as a combined Red Cross and diversified activity organization."

A Relief society sponsored series of meetings to promote world peace, similar to others held in the United States, met hearty approval of the German government, and Relief society, M. I. A. and Beehive Girl programs of the church were approved.

"Jews are safer in Germany today than in many other parts of the world," Mr. Welker said. "It is true that the Nazis are working to segregate Jews, but they are treated well otherwise. Nazi dislike of Jews and hatred of communism are at the root of most propaganda against that nation," he continued.

Mr. Pyper closed the Rotary International convention at Nice, France, and the L. D. S. British mission centennial as the highlights of his visit of more than three months to principal countries of Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Welker will leave this week for Ephraim, where Mr. Welker will be director of the L. D. S. institute near Snow college.

Birth Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Facer, 238 East First South street, announced the birth of a daughter, Barbara, in the Holy Cross hospital, Mrs. Facer was formerly Noreen McGanney.
